

RETAIL

Weintraub Tobin's Retail practice group brings together significant and accumulated industry knowledge across many practice areas to meet the evolving issues that challenge the retail industry. Such areas include litigation, business and finance, real estate, labor and employment, intellectual property, product liability, and Internet and e-commerce issues. This interdisciplinary focus affords our clients value-added benefits that results in an ongoing, dedicated industry focus. We understand the complexities involved when businesses need our assistance to grow and succeed while protecting brand equity.

Our mandate is to provide practical legal advice. Our attorneys often serve as valued business advisors, providing the comprehensive legal and business solutions to support retail businesses at every level. We find solutions, not just problems, and assist our clients in the quantification of business and legal risks—all the while emphasizing clear communication, efficiency and responsiveness. From distribution and operations, to financing, to labor and employment, to business structure and processes, Weintraub Tobin understands the challenges our clients face in today's retail economy. We see the issues that arise from every angle, whether they stem from complications surrounding e-commerce, challenges created from the ever-changing economic landscape, or a new global emphasis on emerging technologies. Whether clients are seeking capital, restructuring, dealing with workforce issues, trimming a tax burden or settling a dispute, chances are Weintraub Tobin attorney has already handled a similar case or transaction.
