EXPERIENCE

Jessica Marlow is a Shareholder in the Firm's Entertainment practice group.

Jessica has extensive experience representing actors, writers, directors, producers, social media influencers, and international financiers connected with film, television, digital media, and endorsement transactions.

Having worked for a global talent agency, Jessica has represented high-profile talent in connection with a wide array of legal matters. As part of her practice, Jessica is responsible for negotiating, drafting, and consummating motion pictures, television, digital media, commercial endorsement, and underlying rights agreements with major studios, networks, alternative media outlets, production companies, and endorsement labels.

In addition, Jessica specializes in structuring multi-faceted career paths that enable her clients to take advantage of numerous artistic mediums. Her vast relationships throughout the various entertainment fields allow Jessica to provide her clients with opportunities to grow and diversify their respective careers by establishing themselves in overlapping creative disciplines.

Jessica's experience with emerging industries within entertainment, including digital media, provides her with a broad and constantly developing spectrum to promote, represent and further her clients' respective interests.
